TRANSACTIONAL INVESTOR ACCOUNT

Transition to TARGET2-Securities (T2S)

As part of the process of integrating the financial system of the Republic of Croatia into the financial markets of the Eurozone, CDCC is connected to the European payment system TARGET and the securities settlement system TARGET2-Securities (T2S).

By transition CDCC to T2S platform, through the phased approach of transitioning to the new account structure model, the investors, who have open accounts directly in CDCC and who do not transfer their assets (securities) to the investment companies or credit institutions but leave them in accounts opened directly at CDCC, will be charged a fee for maintaining securities positions on investor accounts in the event that the total value of the assets on the accounts in CDCC exceeds the prescribed amount, while in the following stages this asset census will be reduced to lower values. By opening Transactional Investor Account with InterCapital and transferring assets, The Client will not be obliged to pay fees to CDCC in relation to their Basic Account.

For the purpose of performing investment services in T2S, InterCapital can open and manage a Transactional Investor Account, in which the positions of securities are kept, the owner of which is the Client whose identity is individually determined. Assets on the Transactional Investor Account do not form part of the InterCapital's assets and are kept separately from the InterCapital's assets. The registration of the Transactional Investor Account with CDCC for the Client is performed by InterCapital.

When concluding the Investment Services Agreement, the Client agrees to the application of the valid CDCC Rules published on the official website: <https://www.skdd.hr/> as may be amended from time to time.

Existing Clients who already have a Brokerage Account opened and would like to open a Transactional Investor Account instead or replace the Brokerage Account with a Transactional Investor Account, may give InterCapital an order to open a Transactional Investor Account. The Transactional Investor Account opened for the Client will be marked as the Client's selected account for Brokerage Services in CDCC. The Cash account remains unchanged, while the Financial Instruments are transferred to the Financial Instruments Account within the Transactional Investor Account. The Client can change the type of account used for Brokerage services at any time by giving an order to InterCapital, which may include opening of the selected account. The Client undertakes to perform all additional actions in accordance with InterCapital's instructions required for the execution of such Client's order. In the case of changing the account type, the Client's password, e-mail address and other data of the Client remain unchanged, except in the case that the Client expressly requests the change of previously submitted data.
